Habitat for Humanity Receives a Helping Hand Local Medical Practice Pitches In

Waco, TX- "Caring For Those in Our Community" is the motto for the staff at Heart of the Brazos Oral & Facial Surgery [HBOFS] located in west Woodway. On Tuesday, April 20th the entire staff of the medical practice will put on hard hats, hammers in hand and follow the professional instruction of the Habitat for Humanity team in building a house for a special family in Waco.

The morning will include registered nurses, administrative staff and surgeons temporarily putting their medical training on-hold to help out in a completely different manner by giving back to the community with sweat and muscle. "Every year since the medical practice opened its doors, Dr. Warren and I ask our staff what community project they would like to work on as a staff involvement project. At the beginning of this year the staff voted on helping to build a house through Habitat for Humanity" states, Dr. Charles Clark, Oral & Facial Surgeon at Heart of the Brazos Oral & Facial Surgery.

Clark explains, "Our goal as a medical facility is to meet and exceed the needs of our patients but also to give back to the community 100%, participating in building a house in the hopes of it becoming a home for a deserving family is a great way to help our Waco community."

As surgeons Drs. Clark & Warren use their hands to perform delicate oral and facial surgeries for patients. However, Tuesday their hands will be used in showing a family how much they care about them by building their house.

"There are so many wonderful charities and community projects it is hard to decide just which one to select to participate in the community as a whole staff. Our staff is very excited about this community project - we will be closing our office on Tuesday in order to dedicate ourselves to such a worthy cause" states, Dr. Scott Warren, Oral & Facial Surgeon at Heart of the Brazos Oral & Facial Surgery.
